

School's Hosts

Prof. Anna Odrowaz-Coates, PhD, Chairholder for UNESCO Janusz Korczak CHAIR; Field researcher, Social scientist, Associate Professor at Social Pedagogy Department, Maria Grzegorzewska University in Warsaw. Executive Board member for RC25 (Research Council 'Language and Society'), International Sociological Association (ISA).

Research interests: Socio-educational inequalities (including socio-cultural reproduction and language aspects), social pedagogy, human rights (children's rights, minority rights, women's rights, gender issues), critical pedagogy.

Scientific Secretaries:

Marta Kotarba, PhD, graduated from the Faculty of Education of the Warsaw University (Poland), pedagogue, academic teacher and psychotherapist in private practice.
 Research interest: development of plurilingual competence in children, supporting spontaneous use of a foreign language during the classes organized in kindergarten and school, the role of boundary experience in own development, early childhood traumas and their impact on adult life.

Krystyna Heland-Kurzak, PhD, graduated from the Faculty of Education at Maria Grzegorzewska University with doctorate in social pedagogy. She also holds MA in pedagogy and MA in theology, She is interested in childhood religiosity and spirituality, sociology and philosophy of religion linked to early years socialisation, religious formation and early childhood development.

School's Volunteers

Claudia Chovgrani is a pre-school education teacher for 10 years. Her interests are related to intercultural education. She would like to focus her research work on the functioning of a child of a different nationality in a pre-school group. She spends her free time traveling. She likes to read biographies. She speaks English and Spanish.

Tatiana Kanasz is a doctor of sociology, working at the Department of General Sociology and Interdisciplinary Studies, Institute of Philosophy and Sociology, The Maria Grzegorzewska University, Warsaw, since 2008. Her research interests cover various social aspects and focus on the media representation of poverty, emotions of social workers, emotions in helping other people, the issues of well-being, happiness and life satisfaction.

Katarzyna Odynec (née Promińska), Doctoral candidate and a social pedagogue. Ongoing doctoral dissertation is dedicated to "Educational potential of the local environment based on research in the Bialski powiat (Lublin voivodeship)" (thesis supervision - prof. Wieslaw Theiss).

Magdalena Roszak

Doctoral Candidate, pedagogue involved with Frobel's pedagogy and interested in independent mothers and their path to empowerment. She is dedicated to netnographic research.

Katarzyna Szolc

Doctoral candidate at the Maria Grzegorzewska University. Scientific interests: home education, intercultural education, aesthetic education. Passion: art history and travel. Co-author of the travel blog gloszpodrozy.pl.

Veronique Ebana

Cameroonian student in psychopedagogy of creativity, author of a novel "Dans l'ombre d'un handicap". Like to read, write and discover new things.

Małgorzata Agnieszka Zambrowska

Doctoral candidate. Math teacher, who uses board games as a teaching-learning tool. A lot of mathematics can be found in those games.

Edyta Żebrowska,

Doctoral Candidate. Polish teacher, Speech Therapist. Research interests: care and education of young children, language communication, biographical research, Pedeutology